
HESI EXIT RN V2

2023

nursinghero.rn@gmail.com

I try my best to have all questions clear as possible, sometimes PDF and websites do some zooming so the quality change! If you feel there is a real problem in any questions, email me at:
nursinghero.rn@gmail.com

The nurse assumes care of a postoperative adult client with type 2 diabetes mellitus and learns that the client has a current blood glucose level of 750 mg/dL. When assessing the client, what is the priority?

- ☒ A Assess for signs of fluid volume deficit.
- ☐ B Observe wound drainage characteristics.
- ☐ C Measure the level of acute pain.
- ☐ D Determine when the client last ate.