

NUR 2513 Maternal-Child Nursing

Maternal Child Final Exam

A child is speaking, then suddenly stops and stares for about 5 seconds is what type of seizure?

- Absence seizures

Babies with spastic cerebral palsy will display what reflex

- a strong moro reflex

when a child is in skeletal traction it is important to

- engage the child in therapeutic play while confined to this position

learnexams

Cast care includes:

- cover the cast with a plastic bag to bathe, nothing is to be put inside the cast

With Legg-Calvé-Perthes disease the child may have a

- non-weight-bearing period.

S/S of an infection?

- Lethargy, increase HR, increased temp

Intervention for a superficial burn would be

- relieving pain and discomfort

daily debridement for severe burns is important to

- decrease risk for infection sickle-cell anemia safety precautions are to

- prevent dehydration

A terminally ill child is awake at 2 AM and continues to put on the call light, what should you do?

- sit with them until they fall asleep

Meningitis goal is

- reduce the pain related to nuchal rigidity.

An infant will get the measles vaccine after

- 12 months of age

Describe chicken pox rash

- itchy, blister-like rash

Pertussis S/S of include

- Cough w/ or w/o "whoop" infants have more apnea

post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) s/s include

- Sleep Disturbances, hypervigilance, flashbacks, and withdrawal from family

Deep partial thickness burns

- Large, ruptured blisters and a white or pale color to the injured tissue, extreme pain

learnexams