

ATI Capstone Pediatrics Exam

a nurse is caring for a child who has bacterial meningitis, what action should the nurse take

Correct Answer:

initiate seizure precautions

a nurse is assessing a 12m old infant who is immediately postop hernia repair surgery, what pain measurement tools should the nurse use to determine if the infant is experiencing pain

Correct Answer:

FLACC

learnexams

a nurse is teaching a school-age child and her parents about managing diabetes mellitus during illness, the nurse determines teaching has been effective when they indicate they will provide which of the following when the child is ill

Correct Answer:

increased fluids

a nurse is caring for a toddler who drinks 950mL (32oz) of milk per day and has poor appetite, the nurse should identify that the toddler is at risk for

Correct Answer:

iron deficiency anemia

a nurse is providing teaching to an adolescent who has type 2 diabetes mellitus and a new prescription for metformin, what instruction should the nurse include

Correct Answer:

take the medication at the same time each day

a school nurse is assessing a child who fell from playground equipment and landed head-first, what clinical manifestations should the nurse recognize as indicating increased intracranial pressure

Correct Answer:

report of diplopia

a nurse is assessing an infant who has hydrocephalus, what clinical manifestations should the nurse expect

Correct Answer:

separated cranial sutures

learnexams

a nurse is teaching the parent of an infant about preventing SIDS, what following statement should the nurse make

Correct Answer:

you should put your infant in bed with a pacifier

a nurse in the ED is creating a plan of care for a child who has an acute head injury following a fall from playground equipment, what interventions should the nurse include

Correct Answer:

initiate seizure precautions for the child

a nurse is caring for a 4m old infant who is immediately postop following cleft palate repair, what intervention should the nurse take

Correct Answer:

apply elbow restraints to the infant

a nurse is assessing a 5-month year old infant during a well-child visit, what finding should the nurse report to the provider

Correct Answer:

the infant does not make consonant sounds when babbling

a nurse is reviewing the history and physicality of an adolescent client who has conduct disorder. what is an expected finding?

Correct Answer:

suspended from school several times in the past year

learnexams

a nurse is planning care for a 6yr old child who has bacterial meningitis, what nursing intervention is unnecessary in the pt's plan of care?

Correct Answer:

measure head circumference every shift

a nurse is teaching the parents of a child who has ADHD about methylphenidate. which of the following statements should the nurse include in the teaching?

Correct Answer:

restrict your child's intake of caffeine while she is taking this medication